

Georg Kühlewind Memorial Lecture

Talk and Workshop by Laszlo Böszörményi (suggested donation for both: $40)

ON THE REHABILITATION OF LOVE (talk)

Wednesday, January 8, 2020, 7 - 9 pm (suggested donation: $20)

The word LOVE has been crudely misused and misunderstood. Many assume that love is a basic and animal instinct, to which people attach some sentimental feelings and poetry for convenience. The truth is exactly the opposite. Love is the creative power of the world. In a meditation, we might get closer to the source of this power.

HOW TO READ SPIRITUAL TEXTS (workshop)

Thursday, January 9, 2020, 10 am - 2 pm (suggested donation: $30)

Spiritual texts are not explanations of an existing world; they are creations in themselves. Even if relating to aspects of a given world, a spiritual text creates a new view, and thus a new world. If we learn to experience the living processes they are originating from, then we can become creative ourselves.

Laszlo Böszörményi, a retired professor of computer science, Klagenfurt University, Austria, has been working on exercises of the meditation path for more than forty years, collaborating with the late Georg Kühlewind. He gives regular talks and seminars on inner schooling and fairy tales.

Anthroposophy NYC, 138 West 15th Street (between 6th and 7th avenues)

